

WE NOMINATE

Walter Phelps Hall, a tradition in a tradition-minded community and probably Princeton University's most popular teacher of the 20th century, who next Wednesday afternoon at 5:00 in 10 McCosh Hall will deliver the seventh annual lecture in a series established in his honor in 1952. In the same way that the University's Stafford Little Lecture Foundation was brought into being as a sounding-board for President Grover Cleveland, a resident of Princeton from 1897 until his death in 1908, the Hall Lectureship will feature a lecture by Hall "until Professor Hall no longer desires to lecture."

It was in June, 1952, that Hall, called to Princeton in 1913 as a "preceptor guy", formally retired and inspired the sort of celebration generally evoked by a Yale-Princeton football game or a Princeton reunion in the sticky month of June. Nearly 1,000 alumni, faculty members and undergraduates, including a six-piece band, jammed Alexander Hall to hear his final lecture. On this occasion a student-faculty committee, which with a minimum of promotion had received gifts from more than 500 individuals, announced the creation of the Hall Public Lectures as well as the Hall Prize in Modern European History.

Next Wednesday, a week following his 75th birthday and days after returning from a six-week tour of Italy, Hall once again will give his famous lecture on the Italian patriot Garibaldi, for whom he named one of his two sons. This was the lecture that prompted a former student to write for a national publication: "Long after graduates have forgotten most of their studies, they can recall vividly how 'Buzzer' made history live in his stormy and unorthodox lectures especially his Garibaldi lecture, which never failed—even at 7:40 a.m. to pack the hall with sitters-in."

Known to thousands of Princetonians as "Buzzer"—in recognition of the hearing-aid he began wearing shortly after his graduation from Yale in 1906—Hall, an authority in the field of European history and the author of several important historical works, gained a reputation among his colleagues and students for his ability to "awaken the intellectual curiosity of his listeners." Several years ago a headline-writer of The Daily Princetonian was so moved by Hall's inspirational qualities that he produced this five-column blurb: "Colorful 'Buzzer' Hall Remains Princeton Tradition, Once Taught Precept in Underwear, Owned Bulldog."

Hall, a native of Newburgh, N. Y., and a former alumni trustee of the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn., has never been a footnote scholar more concerned with punctuating history than with its interpretation. Fundamentally a teacher, who frequently said "Just a minute until I turn on the electricity", while adjusting his hearing-aid, Hall thoroughly enjoys drawing object-lessons from history. "The rock bottom thing about life", he would often say to his classes, "is to keep on going when we don't want to keep going, and to be willing to give up what isn't necessary."

For stimulating generations of young men to think for themselves; for proving beyond any reasonable doubt that outstanding teachers are infinitely more important than anything they might teach; for his resounding vitality at age 75; he is Town Topics' nominee for

SPRINGBOARD TO COOPERATION

On the By-Pass and the Loop.
 Some 50 representatives of counties, municipalities and institutions
 met at the Princeton Inn Tuesday afternoon for preliminary talks on two matters of mutual concern: the Princeton bypass (Route 206-A) and the loop that would swing around Princeton Township.

"This meeting is a springboard," said Raymond F. Male, mayor of Princeton Borough who,
 with R. Kenneth Fairman, mayor of the Township, had organized the gathering. "We are well on the way to inter-county and municipally cooperation."

The nucleus of future meetings will probably be the three county planning boards (Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset) which came together originally, according to Russell Montney, of the Middlesex Board, "because we needed to cooperate." Mr. Montney told the group that the logical next step would be to meet with municipalities that are affected by the two proposed roads.

The By-Pass. No alignment has been chosen for the by-pass, said

MAY QUEEN: Eileen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard
 W. Baker of Edgerstone Road, was crowned May Queen
 at Miss Fine's School.

Joseph Cunningham, engineer for the State Highway Department, in response to several questions put to him by Miss Grace Gurisic, mayor of Rocky Hill.

Mr. Cunningham said that the highway department had retained a consulting firm to make a feasibility study. Air photographs will be taken of a strip of land one mile wide, and then a mosaic picture will be made.

This "flow line" will extend from Bolmer's Corners on Route 206 to Hightstown. In two or three months, the firm will propose a route between these two terminal points, a route which is the most economical from point of view of construction and right-of-way.
 Mr. Cunningham said. Open hearings will then be held with municipalities.

From the engineering standpoint, with open land on both sides," said Mr. Cunningham,
 "we certainly wouldn't cut through the center of the Borough of Rocky Hill."

William Roach, chairman of the Somerset County Planning Board, said he had once made a map showing possible 206-A routes which went through Rocky Hill, but that these lines were not official and were not from the State Highway Department.

Ricardo Mestres, vice-president of Princeton University, asked Mr. Cunningham how far in the future the by-pass might be. "We at the University can understand Mayor Gurisic's feelings about a road through Rocky Hill," said Mr. Mestres. "That's just what we have now, with the traffic on Washington Road."

Mr. Cunningham was unable to provide a time schedule because the road depends on funds, but he said that the feasibility study could lead to a set of right-of-way plans. "If the municipalities can agree, and if they can pick a route that meets with general approval, the by-pass program will be ahead by years," Mr. Male predicted. "This approval is more vital, almost, than dollars."

Mr. Fairman, referring to Princeton Township's Master Plan and to the plans of other municipalities, commented:
 "We'll all be able to plan around 206-A, but we can't make definite plans until we know about the by-pass."

The Loop. Mercer County Planning
 Engineer, Louis Calvanelli, describing the Loop on a map, said that the road is designed to discourage heavy traffic in the Borough by providing alternate routes from points outside the Borough of Princeton to points inside it.

The southern portion of the Loop involves inter-municipal operation. It goes from Alexander Street across the canal, dropping into West Windsor in a deep
 "U," then crossing Harrison Street, continuing on the south side of Lake Carnegie in Plainsboro and South Brunswick, then crossing the canal and the Millstone to a major exchange at River Road.

(The road makes the deep "U"
 because in this portion it crosses University land which Princeton wants to keep as intact as possible for expansion purposes.)

Mr. Mestres pointed out that surrounding municipalities have encouraged industrial laboratories whose employees either live in Princeton or consider it the hub of their activities.

Mr. Male said that on the one hand, Lawrence Township was becoming a "dormitory" for Princetonians, and that, on the other, many Princetonians work at Educational Testing Service, one of Lawrence's biggest business organizations. He said he felt that the loop would be a definite help to Lawrence Township.
In regard to financing the proposed road, Mr. Calverell said that Mercer County is seeking to obtain help from the Federal Government and that, if Princeton Township were to adopt an official map showing the loop road, the county's hand would be strengthened.

"Will You Join Us?" In a real, informal, roll-call, Plainsboro, West Windsor, Hightstown, Lawrence and South Brunswick, indicated definite interest, sympathy and a desire for further talks.
Mr. Fairman said he felt that the bylaws were more lenient than the loop, and that some action could be taken on the loop while waiting for the loop.
Mr. Male indicated his desire to see the by-pass made ahead although he pointed out that the loop would be greatly relieved by construction of the loop.
The urgency for cooperation was neatly packaged in a statement by Charles K. Agle, architect and planning consultant. "If we don't all act together," he commented, "everyday traffic in Princeton will soon reach the volume of traffic on the Saturday of a Yale football game."

ROUND-UP
MERRY MONTH OF MAY: It will be considerably merrier than April for all concerned if there is less rainfall than the traditional month of showers produced. . . it was damp to the point of deluge. . . precipitation a good 50 percent of the time, with rain recorded on 15 of April's 30 days. . . despite this near-constant drizzle, total for the month was slightly below normal. Long-range forecast for May is promising: temperatures slightly above average and rainfall no more, than the usual three inches.

Spring-time has gotten into the younger generation a little too thoroughly in some instances. . . Police Sergeant Peter J. McCrohan, the Borough's juvenile officer, reports that this week's docket scheduled to come before Referee Howard W. Stepp will be the longest in several months. Among the charges: one for bicycle theft; possession of beer in a car parked near Princeton High School; use of alcoholic beverages by two minors aged 16 and 17; taking a car without the owner's consent. One defendant who will come before Mr. Stepp Thursday is tagged by police as "incorrigible."

The degree that grass is giving way to asphalt as parking lots expand isn't making some Princetonians happy. . . see Mailbox, page 10, and an amusing satirical jibe in an advertisement on page 28.

Princeton High School's PTA Scholarship Committee will announce winners next month whose college education will be partially financed by the sale of magazine subscriptions. . . the committee raises a considerable sum each year in this fashion and will be happy to handle new subscriptions or renewals if calls are made to Mrs. Charles Wideman of 206 Moore Street at WA 4-4894 speaking of Princeton High School, the annual Junior Prom will be the more thoroughly enjoyed this Friday night because it had to be postponed for a week when the original date conflicted with the Merit Scholarship Tests.

Mayor Male will represent the Borough in Trenton Thursday when it is one of six Mercer municipalities to receive a safe driving award for not having had a traffic fatality during 1958. . . William R. Scheide of Library Place directed the Bach Aria Group in the Puerto Rican Music Festival this week before a highly-appreciative capacity crowd.

Five Princeton area residents have been seated on the May panel of the Mercer County grand jury: Myrtle S. Whitney, 641 Mount Lucas Road; Winifred P. Copner, East Broad Street, Hopewell; Philip K. Baltzer, 838 Mount Rose Road; Andrew J. Grove, 2 Piedmont Drive, West Windsor; and Benjamin F. McMahon, 2991 Princeton Pike.

TOWN TOPICS had a "T" last week of which it was proud; in 686 previous dating back to March 25, it has had only one "T" in "The Week" had ever occurred. . . one was out of place last week, somewhat garbling the first two paragraphs. . . Police Chief Raymond Mondone, last week's nominee, is now the recipient of reprints—properly corrected.

Princeton Municipal Improvement gave a delightful and sizeable cocktail party at the Nassau Inn last week, ostensibly to make public illustrated plans for the expanded hostelry, complete with new wing, swimming pool and motel. . . shortly before the first guest appeared, it was decided that protocol required approval of the architect's model by additional key PMI personnel and the display was withdrawn. . . the assemblage nonetheless enjoyed itself thoroughly.

MORE ADVERTISERS use Town Topics exclusively than any other paper in Princeton. It costs them less per copy too.

TOPICS Of the Town

BOROUGH "OPEN SPACE"

Little Left. In a municipality, which according to planners is approximately 93 percent "built up," the question of "open space" is of paramount importance. It was this factor that prompted the Borough Planning Board as part of a three-hour session Tuesday evening to review and reserve judgment on two proposals for developing sizeable areas in the Borough's northeastern corner. From two developers came "sketch plats" which were reviewed at length and then held for further study by Borough authorities:

● In the area bounded by Cedar

Lane, Prospect Avenue (extended) and Riverside Drive, Brishy Builders, Inc., of Metuchen, N.J., propose the early construction of 38 homes in the $20,000-$30,000 price-range, stumbling-blocks for the development of this property, held by John F. Hoff, include the completion of Prospect (from Washington Road to Riverside Drive) and the extension of Patton Avenue as an outlet for the new development.

● The proposed development of the extensive land-holdings of Anthony La Placa, of Princeton, in the North Harrison Street sector was presented by the owner and his attorney, Ralph S. Mason. Among the integral parts of the proposition were the construction ing., adjoining the "new" Firehouse and Borough Garage, and the designation of a half-dozen building lots (all conforming to the zoning ordinance) on the northeast corner of North Harrison Street and Hamilton Avenue.

PLANNING BOARD MEETS

In Township. The Princeton Township Planning Board asked most of its suppliants to come back with further plans, but the Board did grant final approval Monday to section three of Princeton Country Estates.

A spokesman for Princeton Manor Construction Company asked for Board approval of the company's plans to secure the northern part of the Braeburn tract, bordered by Terhune Road, for development. Princeton Manor also asked for Board approval to divide the cost of the road in thirds between Princeton Manor, the Township and two individual property owners. Princeton Manor was advised that a meeting with the Board would be arranged when preliminary plans had been completed by the construction company.

Revised preliminary plans for the Monck subdivision on The Great Road were presented. The Township's proposed east-west road and the proposed realignment of The Great Road affect this property and the county engineer has made certain suggestions regarding road width. Further plans will be presented to the Board later.

Salvatore LaPlaca, who presented a discussion plan of his subdivision on Snowden and Grove, was asked to prepare further plans and show them to the Board at a later date. His plan was approved in principle.

WHAT'S AHEAD

In Township. Next Monday's meeting of the Township Committee will be a vocal one, if the expected opposition appears to protest the amendment that would remove the "savings clause" from the 1955 zoning ordinance on minimum lot size. That clause allowed developers to proceed even if their lots did not conform in size.

The amendment refers specifically to land that has been subdivided and approved but not built on. Developers who own such land would be required to conform to present zoning on lot size. Any property owner who has gone forward substantially with the development of his land would be exempted.

Individual property owners, who have one non-conforming lot would be allowed to build on it if they received a variance from the Zoning Board. The Board might make a blanket variance for such lots, or decide individually. Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, has said that the proposed amendment is legal and that a landowner does not have a vested interest in his subdivision until he has built on it.

The Committee will also hold public hearings Monday on paving and sewer ordinances involving Prospect and Riverside, and will introduce ordinances to construct a short piece of sewer on Witherspoon north from Henry, and to vacate part of Greenlawn, Lane between Harris and Ewing.

All municipalities with land along the canal, including the Township, have been informed by the State of a public hearing on Princeton University's application to take a million gallons of water a day from the canal starting October 1 and continuing for 25 years. The communication will be read on Monday.

In Borough, parking problems in the railroad station area will come up in Borough Council again Tuesday night but only for a report on studies which have been made. Many suggestions are being weighed and no ordinance will be introduced.

Council will hold a public hearing on the ordinance ending the "Friday night experiment" for metered parking until 9 o'clock. Certain parking changes on University Place are also planned.

CAR INJURES CHILD
Boy Receives Stitches. A 3½-year-old boy received five stitches in the scalp at Princeton Hospital Monday after being struck by a car while playing near his home.
The youngster, Anthony Tote of 27 Pine Street, was treated and released to the care of his family physician. No charges were filed against the driver, G. M. Pilenz, 33, of 305 Hamilton Avenue.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS
In Township, Princeton Township's Board of Health introduced last week a rabies control ordinance which would require inoculation of all dogs. A public hearing on the measure will be held at the next Board of Health meeting on May 27 at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

Dr. Oscar Sussman, 191 North Harrison, veterinarian with the New Jersey State Health Department, showed a film on rabies and explained the nature of the disease. He said that there was no proven reaction to the vaccine in dogs who received rabies shots.

Dr. Cornelia Jaynes, veterinarian, Mt. Lucas Road, expressed her disapproval of compulsory vaccination when there is so little rabies in the area. "We shouldn't go to Russia yet," Dr. Jaynes declared.

In further business, the Board gave its approval to the subdivision plans of Mrs. Catherine Menck, having its approval on Taking the philosophical viewpoint, Ah Choo and his fellow hay fever sufferers in this part of the world agreed that a look at the flies and other spring blooms was well worth an occasional sneeze. The Board also voted unanimously to enforce requirements for sewer connections by writing to the property owners involved and telling them that 60 days from the date of the letter they would receive a 30-day notice to connect. This means that property owners whose connections are "outstanding" will have until August 1 to comply with the Board's request.

News Of The THEATRES

BALLET SOCIETY READY

For Annual Presentation. The first of two performances of the Princeton Ballet Society's spring production will be given this Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in McCarter Theatre as part of the Borough PTA's Children's Entertainment Series. The second presentation, for adults, will be presented Friday evening at 8:30. Tickets for both shows will be on sale at the box office beginning at 9 a.m. Thursday.

The production includes two ballets, "Graduation Ball" and "Hansel and Gretel." Both have been adapted by Mrs. Audree Estey, director and choreographer for the society, and Mrs. Nora Greenblatt, the society's music director. Mrs. Greenblatt will play the piano accompaniment.

Elinor Coffee will be prima ballerina in "Graduation Ball." The drummer boy solo will be danced by Nino Flanore, a teacher at the Metropolitan Opera School of Ballet. Members of the Ballet Society will play graduates, while the parts of guests will be danced by students from Princeton University and Princeton High School. This is the first time that male students have participated in one of the Ballet Society shows.

The leading roles in "Hansel and Gretel" will be taken by Jeanne Knorr and Dabby Bishop. Other featured roles will be performed by Joyce Siebel, E'vo N. Kochev and George Alexander.

Sets for the two ballets have been designed by Jacques Kunkermann, internationally-known artist. Mrs. George Barrie, who has designed costumes for Ballet Society shows as well as for several Princeton ice carnivals, is in charge of costumes.

HARMONY TO RING

During "Players' Entree-Acte." Several stirring renditions of old-time heartbreakers will echo from the rafters of the Alexander Street Playmill during the Entree-Acte of the Princeton Community Players' Spring show. The show, which is entitled "The Child Stealer, or Love Among The Lowly," by," will be presented May 15, 16, 22 and 23.

Among guest performers scheduled as "Entree-Acte Diversions" will be the "Opposite Sextette," a singing group composed, illogically enough, of eight charming Princeton ladies. The eight-membered sextette, which specializes in close harmony, meets regularly once a week whether or not there is a public appearance on its agenda. It has performed at several public functions since its formation two years ago, all to considerable acclaim.

Songs from the Sextette's repertoire which will be presented at the Playmill will include such numbers as "After the Ball Is Over," "She's More To Be Pitted Than Censured," "Sidewalks of New York" and "Ta-Ta-Ta-Boom-de-ay." Members of the group are the Mesdames Jean Bishop, Margie Blavill, Joyce Erdman, Jane Griswold, Roxanne Sly, Mary Stewart, Sally Sword and Ann Townsend.

Members of the audience will be able to enjoy all this in the greatest comfort, since they will be seated around tables covered with red-checked tablecloths, drinking free beer provided by the Players.

Mrs. Marguerite Meany will serve as director of the play, which will feature songs by Peter G. Cook. The star-crossed heroine will be played by Mrs. Kit Barnard, with Peter Cook, Jr., as the staunch hero who rescues her from a succession of gamblers, pickpockets, beggars and thieves. Tickets, at $2 each, are available at the University Store and from the Playmill box office, WA101-3678.

BALLET IS APT

Aparri Shout Bay Latin Theme. It was particularly fitting that in Princeton, a town devoted mainly to the pursuit of knowledge, the Aparri School should offer a "Ballet in Latin." The ballet, created by Rita Gibbons, director of the Aparri School, was presented Saturday evening at Princeton High School. A performance was also staged Thursday afternoon at the Latin Honor Awards program at the High School.

It was probably the first time in dance history that one saw young people, in solos and ensemble, perform as "infinite, indicative, imperative and subjective" moods. There was an "infinite" dance of the "Tenses," and a battle by the cases over "it."

Inventive movement was most apparent in the dance of "imperative mood" and "first person." The climactic "dance of the first person plural," performed by Eve Gardner and William Jacobs, provided the dash of sophistication and technical aplomb that gave the ballet its focal point.

Miss Gardner is a freshman at Princeton High School and Mr. Jacobs, guest performer in the ballet, is a sophomore at the High School of Performing Arts in New York.

The presentation of the ballet coincided with the publication last Friday in The New York Times of a statement on the value of studying Latin by Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University. Dr. Goheen's statement was among those quoted in an article about Lois A. Kapelsch, a student at South Orange Junior High School who conducted a survey on the subject as an assignment for her Latin class. Miss Kapelsch placed an ad in The Times last January asking for letters expressing an opinion on the value of Latin study and also wrote to scores of persons in important positions.

Dr. Goheen, who was among those to whom Miss Kapelsch wrote, was quoted as saying that the study of Latin had increased his ability to use the English language accurately. "The Latin Language is embedded in the very fabric of our own language and literature," Dr. Goheen said, "and one who would learn to use the English language with precision or to enjoy its graces should have knowledge of Latin as one of its essential components."

In addition, Dr. Goheen said, "the Latin language is the source and foundation of the Romance languages and literatures of the people of Western Europe and of South America. Familiarity with it can help one learn to understand and talk with these people, who in date constitute such an important part of our western world."

"Thirdly, the Roman historians, poets, orators and philosophers have given enduring expressions to some of the highest thoughts and aspirations of the human race. A full appreciation of their thought and style can come only from reading them in their own tongue."

Admission free is 50 cents. "Journal D'un Cure de Campagne" is described as an exceptional film, admired and honored for its profound subject matter, artistic direction and beautiful cinematography. It is not about religion but rather about faith, telling of a French priest's attempt to raise the moral level of his village, his personal conflicts and anguish, and the townspeople's misinterpretation of his temperament and faith.

This picture was chosen "Best Foreign Film of the Year" in 1951. That same year it received the Venice Film Festival Suard and the Grand Prix du Cinéma Français.

LINEN AND SILK

On a Dressed-up Foot, Hult's contribution to the spring and summer season is a group of sleek dress shoes done in linen and silk. (The store also has some special shoes for ladies who spend the cocktail hour topside on a slippery deck, but we'll get to them later.)

Natural linen with eyelid embroidery makes the first of these dress shoes. It has a plain flat bottom and a heel that's plain linen without the eyelid embroidery. A little snap handbag matches exactly. You may have the shoes and bag in black, if such is your costume.

Another pair is made of natural Tussah silk (a richly nubbed fabric) with fabric heel and a buckle shaped like a trapezoid frame.

Hult's coolest shoes are punched calf, full of little circles and triangles which have been punched out of the leather. These are sizeable holes, too, not mere perforations like the ones in men's shoes. The manufacturer calls these shoes "Indiscrete"; actually, they are as modest as anything in town.

Colors are avocado, bamboo ("bamboo" is "champagne," in summer dress), black or white.
The shoe is cut straight across the vamp and has been designed with a medium heel. A big matching snap purse goes along, if you wish.

Bewitching a price-colored straw shoes would enliven almost any costume. These are pointed in toe, medium in heel without any ornament. If you don't like apricot, you may have bright green or natural straw. (Hult's calls that apricot "orange," but you can make up your own mind.)
These pumps are $12.95.

If your choice of color is even more esoteric than apricot, you might as well buy a pair of white linen or white silk and let the dye man go to work. These plain pumps come in high or medium heel and each heel comes in modified or very pointed too, so you can't lose.

Now about that gal we left on a slippery deck. Hult's now carries Sperry's Top-siders, a shoe with a very grippy sole that almost lets you walk upside down. Comes in sizes for men, women and juniors.

Women get to wear three styles: the everyday kind; the "Commodore," which is navy Graduation dresses hang in lovely clouds of white, pink and yellow on a very special rack at Bellows'. There are two or three of each kind (diplomas may be all silk but girl graduates don't necessarily want to wear them) and they come in the pleasant price range of $17.95 to $25.

In style, you may choose a dress that's as simple as a Quaker maid, or one that's very dressed up and ready to go dancing after graduation. For example, Bellows has a fine pina broadcloth with short straight sleeves, a full skirt and a bodice of lace and bands of tucks. Another white dress is silk organza over taffeta with a satin belt and a beautifully embroidered bodice.

Not all schools ask their graduates to wear white, so Bellows has thoughtfully provided a palette of pastel mostly yellow and blue. One of these is embroidered cotton, its Empire bodice marked with a satin bow.

blue and very yacht-club; and the slip-on pump which is navy with white beading around the edge and very land-lubber. The phrase "slip-on pump" must be a slip of somebody's tongue, because Top-siders aren't supposed to slip anywhere.

Natural or white straw has been used for a collection of summer flats, each one with butterfly lew. Sandler makes a natural flat with one of these wooden squash heels. The same shoemaker has a two-eyelid oxford in straw with leather apron.
Oomphies are very dressed up this summer with Cloud Hoppers:
canvas shoes in red or black with such fancies as side laces or shaggy multicolored stripes. Some styles are mother-daughter.

New Editions in Print. The cocktail lounge at Bellows has a group of splendid little cocktail dresses, modest in price if not always in cut, and only one or two of a kind. They are $22.95 to $45.95 and they are designed, most of them, with the conservative Princeton party-giver in mind, simple in design, with spaghetti straps and full skirts.

One is cotton voile, accordion pleated all around, with a tremendous print of the biggest, brightest, reddest roses you ever saw. It has green spaghetti straps and a wide green waist inset which serves as a belt.

Another cotton voile is green leaves and blue forget-me-nots with a bodice inset that goes down to a point at the waist and makes the dress look pleasantly peasantly.

In the high-style line, there is a black silk shantung sheath with mushrooming cage collar of white organza handkerchief black. Others, some with full skirts, follow the same black line with its dramatic white accent.

Just for fun, Bellows has the Fun Suit. Popover top in blue and white striped jersey upon which has been appliqued an old sailboat piano, a guitar, a chandelier and a sign that says "Half-Moon Hotel." Shorts go along.

Another, all white, has an ap-pliqued sailor 35 inches high.

WESTERN AT THE DRIVE-IN: Ricky Nelson, John Wayne and Dean Martin are in "Rio Bravo," Technicolor western at Lawrence Drive-In through Saturday.

with the comedy hit, "Tunnel of Love," starring Rita Gam and Jack Pyle. Scott McKay and Sono Osato are featured. The comedy will play in New Hope through May 16 with evening performances at 8:30 and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2 P. M.

Rita Gam is well known to movie and television audiences. Movie-goers will remember her from the movie, "The Thief," in which no word of dialogue was spoken. Jack Pyle, a disk jockey on radio station WIP, Philadelphia, starred in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" at the Bucks County Playhouse several seasons ago.

Owing to repair work on Main Street in New Hope, motorists driving to the Playhouse are advised to allow an extra 15 minutes driving time for re-routing. This is particularly true for those driving into New Hope from the south and southeast.

THE PLATHOW'S
Initiation of Life (May 6-14): In Eastman color, is the 1959 remake by Universal of the Fannie Hurst novel which was turned into one of the big money-making films of the 1930's. Starring Lana Turner, John Gavin, Sandra Dee, Robert Ayda, Susan Kohner and the excellent gospel singer Mahalia Jackson, the picture includes more interpersonal engagements than a textbook in introductory psychology. There is the story of the successful actress (Miss Turner), now wrapped up in her career to understand Gavin's genuine love or to give proper attention to her daughter (Miss Dee). There is the growing hatred between the Negro woman (Mahalia Jackson) who has chosen to be Miss Turner's servant and her almost-white daughter (Miss Kohner) who resents her race. And between these plot-lines there are enough parallels to prove Euclid.

Miss Hurst reportedly was not happy about the 1934 adaptation of "Initiation," which featured Claudette Colbert, but she can hardly complain her re-staging over the current edition: "I would be an ungrateful author," she writes in a tribute ad for the film, "if I did not express enthusiasm and more for Universal's production of 'Initiation of Life.' I'm delighted with this moving interpretation of my book," etc., etc.

While this department avoids quarreling with ladies whenever possible, the foregoing statements give rise to an almost unquenchable urge to nuzzle a gentlemanly, "Come now, Miss Hurst! For while there are aspects of this film, notably the sensitive attitude of Miss Kohner and the stirring singing of Miss Jackson, which make it enjoyable, neither Miss Turner nor Mr. Gavin are perceptive enough actors to do a 'moving interpretation' of anybody's book, and Director Douglas Kirk too often confuses tragedy and melodrama. Happily, however, the story itself is sufficiently intriguing to offset much of this.

THE GARDEN
Gigi (May 5-9), for the information of readers just returning from Italian Somaliland, won nine Academy Awards last month and is considered one of the more satisfactory musicals of 1938.

While we decline to list it as the "My Fair Lady" of the screen, the film is genial, warm-hearted and tuneful.

In color, "Gigi" stars Leslie Caron, Maurice Chevalier, Louis Jourdan, Hermione Gingold, Eva Cabor, Jacques Bergerac, and Isabel Jeans, with music by Lerner and Lowe. One might wish for a more passion-rousing "Gigi" than Leslie Caron provides in the final scenes, but it would be out of place to carp at this late juncture. If you missed the picture the first time around, the Garden deserves praise for giving you a second chance. If you've already seen it, you'll probably want to go again.

Dial M For Murder (May 11), starring Grace Kelly, Ray Milland and Robert Cummings, is the latest in the Garden's series of Monday night re-runs of good films from the past, and one of the finest mysteries Hollywood has produced. Starred by the capable acting of the principals, "M" is taut, suspenseful and intelligent.

The Monday night series, after a month on trial, has brought such unprecedented business to the Garden boxoffice that it will definitely be continued through June 8, and there is a possibility the theatre will remain open through the summer for the first time in five years. Titles on tap include "Stalag 17," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "A Place in the Sun" and "Sabrina."

The Law Is the Law (May 12-16) brings the inimitable Fernandel back to the Garden, this time in company with the Italian comedian Toto. An outright comedy, the film is less impressive than last week's "Forbidden Fruit," in which Fernandel handled a serious role with distinction, but the talents of the two stars are enough to give it a number of delightful moments.

The story is set in a French village on the Italian border, where Fernandel, a customs agent, works at squelching the half-witted smuggling plots of Toto. Fernandel's job and way of life are threatened when it is discovered that he was born in a home whose kitchen extended into Italy, thus throwing his citizenship into question.

The comic possibilities of this situation are not explored as fully as one might hope, but, happily, a good deal of the picture is devoted to scenes in which Fernandel and Toto argue and grimace at each other. These are interludes of rare charm and humor.

"ONDINE," A SUCCESS

Kathy Kelly Stands Out. Theatre Indulge's final full-scale production of the year does it great credit. In staging a difficult play with many levels of meaning, they have overcome the obvious obstacles which lie in wait for amateurs. The pace is brisk, and the actors move and speak with assurance.

However, the playwright, Jean Giraudoux, has laid traps for audience and actors alike in developing his themes, which are often contradictory. The production at Murray Theatre fails to tell as an entity, although individual actors turn in good performances.

Top among the performers is Kathy Kelly in the title role, who meets the demands of her role with spirit and grace. As the 16-year-old nymph-girl, she puts across both aspects of the character without sacrificing either. Her own age (17) helps, but there is a great deal of dramatic depth beneath the surface of her youth. As the prince, Alexander Kennedy fills the bill perfectly as far as looks are concerned, but his relationship with Ondine fails to crystallize until the last act when the true contrast between his humanity and her spirit nature is brought out. The character he portrays in earlier scenes is overly sentimental, and the play seems more an enactment of "young love" than of the conflict within man.

Among the other actors, Reed Armstrong, as Ondine's ruler in the watery spirit world, is particularly effective. Through his sonorous voice and various gambles, the chill doom which pervades the play comes across the footlights. Godfrey Smith, in the dual roles of Lord Chamberlain and the second judge, plays the comic relief to the bit and serves in both to bring out the playwright's message of man's vanity and stupidity.

Great credit is due the production staff, whose diligent efforts have produced stunning costumes and sets. The new lighting board at Murray has been put to use very well, and the effects added immeasurably to the production. As a whole, the play is thought-provoking and well done. Theatre-goers may still see "Ondine" this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30. A matinee is scheduled for 2 on Saturday.

"Snowfire (May 9) will replace "Imitation of Life" on Saturday afternoon, with special showings scheduled for 1 and 3 p.m. The picture, in color, features Don Megowan, Molly McGowan and Claire Kelly. Subtitled "The Wild White Stallion" and accompanied by a program of color cartoons, "Snowfire" will appeal primarily to the children.

ASCOP MAY MERGE
With West Coast Firm, Talks

leading to possible merger of the Applied Science Corporation of Princeton and the Gianini Controls Corporation are being held. It was disclosed this week. If the proposal is adopted by stockholders and directors of the two electronics firms, ASCOP would become a division of Gianini, continuing to operate in its Princeton location.

John H. Wallace, Jr., ASCOP president, and Donald H. Putnam, president of Gianini, issued a joint statement this week reporting plans for a possible merger. It was disclosed that, if effected, negotiations would be completed on a basis of the exchange of one share of stock in the Gianini Corporation for every three of Applied Science.

Donald H. Putnam, a member of the Princeton Class of 1936, is president of Gianini, which is located in Pasadena, Calif. Approximately 12 years old. It is about three times the size of ASCOP.

Mr. Wallace said that "the two companies' products complement each other and it is believed both firms would be strengthened by a merger." Special meetings of stockholders of both corporations may be called within 60 to 90 days for a vote on the proposal, with approval by the respective boards of directors also, requisite to a final merger.

House-Wrecking Decried.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
"Four houses are being razed on Chambers Terrace so being razed on Hattish Street parking lot can be expanded Some 40 tenants vacated the premises to make way for the town's expanding business district."

This item in Town Topics reads as though the new parking lot is part of a plan formally adopted by public authority. But the demolition of Chambers Terrace, although it radically alters the appearance and usefulness of this corner of town, is being carried out by a private corporation, Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc.

No one can question P.M.I.'s legal right to wreck four of its houses and evict 40 of its tenants. But this plan for uprooting grass, trees, houses, and people in order to lay down still another acre of asphalt is questionable as a "municipal improvement."

Rental housing isn't plentiful in Princeton as to make 75 parking spaces worth more than four large houses on what was a pleasant little block. The other parking lots which the Borough and P.M.I. have already laid down are eye-sores and, for that matter, seem to be half empty of cars most of the time. As for the "expanding business district," does Princeton either need or want another Shopping Center, consisting most of parking lots, in the middle of town?

DRIVER FINED $155

Drove on Revoked List, Ralph H. Burrier, 38, of 93 Terhune Road, was fined $155 in Borough Court this week for driving while on the revoked list.

In other cases, Magistrate Theodore T. Tans Jr. fined Nicholas H. Davis, 20, 111-1901 Hall, a Princeton Junior, $35 for exploding a firecracker on a public highway; Joseph Contoh, 19, of 26 Station Drive, Princeton Junction, $25 for drunk and disorderly conduct, and Edgar Riddick, 20, 21 Birch Avenue, $25 and 60-day license suspension for passing at an intersection.

In Princeton Township's lone case this week, Magistrate Louis R. Gerber found Markell M. Shriver, 30, 635 Snowden Lane, guilty of careless driving. He paid $40.

Hot Time

Borough Police found themselves doing double duty as firemen over the weekend. On Saturday evening Sgt. Robert J. Anderson and Patrolmen James Kopylner and Arthur F. Callant answered a call from Tower Club on Prospect Street and found an out-of-control grease fire in the kitchen grill. The officers sent out a general alarm, then followed by pieces of equipment that responded by dousing the blaze themselves with a dry chemical extinguisher. Damage was negligible.

On Friday night, Chief Raymond Mondone and Sgt. Peter J. McCrohen were driving their patrol car east on Nassau Street in front of the campus when a flaming explosion rocked the motor. Aided again by the chemical extinguisher, which all squad cars carry, they brought the 10-foot-high flames under control. The fire, which stemmed from a carburetor leak, caused more than $300 damage and put the car out of commission for the weekend.

MY IDEAL: What traits does the American girl look for in her ideal man? A sampling of opinion among girls in Princeton for Houseparties last weekend turned up a surprising variety of responses. Bobbi Soriano (left) thinks she'd be happy with a tall, dark Princetonian, while Sherri Miller seeks someone who's interested and interesting. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your conception of the "ideal" man?

Where asked: On campus, of houseparties dates of Princeton undergraduates.

Resha Spector, Trenton, N.J., Trenton State College: He must be fairly nice looking. Personality is more important than looks, however. Brains would help. Although he doesn't have to be a millionaire, he must be able to earn a good living.

Nancy Roberts, Yorktown Heights, New York, Yorktown High School: He must have blond hair — a crew cut. He should be blue-eyed, about 165 pounds with lots of money. I'd like him to be the executive type; casual and dressy.

Julia Pollak, Larchmont, N.Y., Skidmore College: I think he should be unusually brilliant, very witty, interesting and fun to be with. I admit this seems like a lot of qualifications; I'd be happy to get just one.

Beki O'Rendall, New York City, Newton College of the Sacred Heart: I'm entering a convent so I don't have an ideal man. This is just a weekend decision. A convent offers something a man never can offer — security.

Margaret Anderson, Wooster, Ohio, The College of Wooster: There are so many qualifications. He should be tall, intelligent and have a good sense of humor. If he doesn't have money, he should have the ability to obtain it. But, above all, he should have something more important than money — respect. He should be respected in whatever he does.

Sherri Miller, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mount Holyoke College: I think he's courteous and thoughtful, interested and interesting. With this combination, looks wouldn't be important.

Jane Bowron, Washington, D.C., Mount Vernon College: Someone that I can respect. He should have ambition and be intelligent. He doesn't have to be any special size or shape, but he must have a good personality.

Matilda Butler, Oklahoma City, Okla., Mt. Holyoke College: Like my father. Someone that I'd respect and someone that knows what he wants from life and the potential to get it. He should be a college man; a Princeton man would be nice.

Sue Eckert, New London, Conn., Radcliffe: He must, above all, be in love with me. He must have an interesting personality. He should be ambitious, but money doesn't matter. If he is ambitious enough. He should not be intellectual, but intelligent.

Sue Sughrue, Rye, New York, Newton College of the Sacred Heart: The first thing to avoid in an ideal man is perfection. Give me a man with all the human weaknesses—a short temper and everything else. He has got to have an ideal for himself and try to live up to it courageously and honestly. Most of all he shouldn't take himself too seriously. The one weakness I can't stand is inability to laugh at your own foibles.

Jill Regensburg, New York City, Finch College: A man is a man, is a man, is a man!

Hazen Taub, Brooklyn, N.Y., Smith College: I would like someone who does not drink. He should have a pleasing character and a nice personality. Intelligence, of course, and money. What girl doesn't want to marry a millionaire?

Jacqueline Ambrose, Scarsdale, N.Y., Mt. Holyoke College: My ideal man is someone with imagination and creativity. He doesn't have to be a Greek god in looks, but he should be pleasant looking. Money is not at all important. He must be happy in his job, share his problems and triumphs with me. Above all, he must be in love with me.

Ruth Blackstone, Scarsdale, N.Y., University of Connecticut: I have no ideal man because if I did I should never get married. I think that a person can only live up to a standard in part, so I won't try to establish an arbitrary standard.

STAY-AT-HOME SWIMMERS

Build Back-Yard Pools. Certainly not a joy killer by nature, the swimming pool salesman in the Princeton area is nonetheless peculiarly interested in the heat of New Jersey summers, the traffic jams on ocean highways, and the possibility of short tempers in the family car on the way home from "a day at the shore."

Nothing diabolical about him but he likes to hear someone say that "you need another swim when you get home." The Jersey shore doesn't seem to be in imminent danger of being despoiled, but a look at an aerial view of the Princeton area, plus the increasing number of construction permits, indicate that the advocate for the family swimming pool has a good point.

At the moment the Princeton Water Company services 91 private pools. Others are filled from individual wells.

The Township Engineer's office recorded some 13 building permits last year; the borough about a dozen. Three new Township pools are under way already this spring, and there may well be a boom in the offing.

The swimming pool, until now a monument to the millionaire and a must for the movie star, has been developed through technological advances into a possibility for everyone. Some pool manufacturers still like the theory that the swimming pool has assumed importance as the "status symbol" once conferred by the Cadillac and the mink and or vicuna coat—thus posing a considerable problem for apartment dwellers and people who hate the water.

However, facts seem to prove that most people buy a pool because they want to swim, and the availability and greatly reduced costs of installing a family swimming pool are making it one of the fastest growing industries in the country. One estimate numbers 55,000 new pools in the nation last year.

WANTED: A GOOD HOME . . . FOR THEIR SWIMMING POOL: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hale and their daughter, Kimberly, of 30 Winant Road, Kendall Park are the puzzled owners of a swimming pool with no place to put it. Mr. Hale quoted the price of a pool table on the TV "Price Is Right" show and received a swimming pool as a bonus, complete with everything except the ground to put it in. He thinks somebody else may be able to give it a better home and has advertised it for sale. For a report on swimming pools as part of numerous Princeton homes, see this page. (Photo by Richards)

Many Types Available. There are as many types of pool construction possible as the half dozen or so companies represented in the area. The average favorite size is approximately 15 by 30 feet.

Smaller pools are thought by some to be unsafe because of the abrupt slope necessary between the shallow and diving ends of the pool. You may have poured concrete construction in any size or any shape, a feature not possible in other types. Or you may insert a "basin" of metal or composition into the hole you excavate.

Or you may lay down a sand bottom with an indestructible plastic liner that requires no painting, the annual bugbear of some owners. Or you may choose a packaged pool which comes complete and ready for installing; lighting fixtures, diving board, vacuum cleaner, ladder, a cover for the entire pool, even a book on how to swim is included. A bathing suit is not.

Sales indicate that for this part of the country the largest pool-conscious group is around 40 years of age and, home owners for about five years. There are others who want a pool when the children are older.

Owning a pool inevitably creates problems along with the benefits. One mother emphatically will not fill the pool until late May even though the weather permits earlier swimming. "I'm

Coming Along Swimmingly

Three Princeton swimming pool builders who feel that private pool popularity is just underway in this area achieve the same goal, family health and recreation, in strikingly different ways. Esther Williams Pools, distributed by Joseph W. Miller, head also of Culligan Water Softener, offers a new fenced-in steel, redwood and vinyl pool that can be set up with little excavation and taken along when the family moves.

Cascade Pools, manufacturers of vinyl-lined pools over a bottom, are handled through Edward E. Gorman, president of Comar Plastics, makers of the pools. Princeton Manor Construction, Richard Fluber, president, was chosen to build the first Storybook House in the State with revolutionary ideas in modern living including an indoor swimming pool.

Whether they prefer to swim under an August sun or a January moon indoors, Princeton homeowners are increasingly pool conscious. See story, this page.

just a policeman from then until October."

Families with older children hope to leave most of the maintenance to the most enthusiastic swimmers. Besides scraping and painting, a pool has to be vacuumed (once a week seems to be average) and the prescribed chemicals must be used with care.

There are maintenance services available at a price. All modern pools are equipped with circulators which necessitate filling the pool only once a year with occasional "freshening" with new water.

The Water Company reserves the right not to refill pools without circulators in time of drought or other water emergencies. Opinions differ about the care of a pool. Some owners think there's nothing to it. Others feel that the expense amounts to as much as "joining another club" and the inherent responsibilities are "just one more housekeeping problem."

Neighbors Protected. Neither Borough or Township limits pool construction other than to require a property plan with specifications, and the assurance that when the pool is emptied the neighbor's cellar won't be flooded. The Borough (but not the Township) requires a four-foot fence around every pool.

Rebels for the most part feel that a pool will not of itself add resale value to a property. The same rule applies to a house with any special feature. The "special customer" has to be found.

In a climate where spring and fall have virtually disappeared and hot summer and cold winter are all year around, the swimming pool companies constantly try to lengthen the useful period of the investment. Water can be heated, a roof can be added and solar heating systems to warm the air around the pool area are not far off.

One of the newest pools is built above the ground except for a small excavation for the "diving well." It is entirely enclosed with wood and vinyl curtain walls for privacy, has a sun deck of its own and can be locked up when the family is away. Besides, if you buy a new house you can take the pool down and put it in the moving van along with the baby's crib.

About Indoor Pools. But there is another way of beating the climate, the short swimming season and the mosquitoes, leaves and sticks that are part of the outdoors. That is, of course, the indoor pool.

This has a philosophy of its own. The therapeutic value of year-round swimming probably is paramount. Not surprisingly, doctors are particularly interested for arthritic and similarly afflicted patients. Water may be heated at any temperature. But for the tired doctor himself, the woman who watches her figure, "Vogue" says there's no better exercise year-round swimming can be the answer.

An indoor pool (there are now three in Princeton, the first only three years old) is also within the range of new home builders, particularly if the pool is constructed at the same time as the house. However, you may add a pool to

WILSON AT THE NASSAU CLUB: This portrait of Woodrow Wilson was unveiled Friday at the Nassau Club as part of its 70th anniversary program. It was painted by Peter G. Cook of Kingston from photographs, other source material and childhood recollections to show the late President of Princeton and the United States at the height of his career—about 1916-17.

Aunt Hepzibah's Victorian monstrosity if you have a mind.

There is little maintenance. The water stays clean. You can lock an indoor pool. A separate heating system allows you to turn it all off when you go to Florida, which you won't need to do anyhow. Mother can stand at the stove getting supper watching the children in the pool a few steps away. And when the children grow up and move, you can fill in the pool and turn it into an indoor garden.

The indoor pool builders firmly believe there will be as many pools in houses as out of them in a matter of years. They also believe costs can compete with outdoor pools. No need, for example, for additional investments in dressing rooms and other pool-side accessories. They are all there in the house.

It is evident that the tired banker likes the idea of indoor or outdoor swimming, too. Swimming pools can now be financed, ten percent down and five years to pay.

PHS STUDENTS HONORED

Five Reeve Latin Awards. Five Princeton High School students who placed in the Baird Memorial Latin Contest received awards at last week's Latin Award Honor Program and Tea. The team of Daniel Sullivan, Elizabeth Davidson and Julia Bowers made the highest scores in the State.

The High School sent two teams of three students each to the contest sponsored by the Classics Department of New York University. It is the first year that PHS has entered.

Daniel Sullivan won a Bronze Key, while the other two on the higher Latin team received honorable mention. In lower Latin, Margaret Black won a Bronze Key and Alexander Leitich was awarded honorable mention. The Latin teachers who prepared the students for the contest were Mrs. Alan W. Richards, head of the department; Mrs. Sigurd T. Peterson and Frederick R. Carman. In addition to the presentation of these awards the Latin Honor Award Program included the "Ballet in Latin" by the Aquarel Dancers, selections by the Boys' Glee Club and the Princeton High School Choir and an address by Prof. Harry L. Levy of Hunter College. Latin Honor Awards were Continued on Page 18

MUSIC In Princeton

CONCERT SUNDAY

By University Orchestra. The Princeton University Orchestra will present its final concert of the season Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in McCarter Theater. Sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, it is being presented in conjunction with the annual Creative Arts Festival and is open to the public free of charge.

The program, one of the most ambitious undertaken by the orchestra in recent years, will range from 17th century works to modern compositions. Nicholas Harsanyi, orchestra director, will conduct the opening and closing works in the program. These are Handel's "Grand Concerto in B-flat Major," the first piece, and the "Alcibiade Lorraine" and "Providence" movements from Darius Milhaud's "Suite Française," which will conclude the program.

The other two works in the program will be conducted by student members of the orchestra. These include Haydn's Symphony No. 10 in D Major, "The Clock," which will be conducted by W. Bruce McKinney, '60, and "The Tartarullian Overture," written especially for the Princeton University Orchestra by John C. Eaton '57, which will be conducted by David R. Sprung, graduate student in music.

This will be the first performance of the "The Tartarullian Overture," which its composer, Mr. Eaton, calls "an essay for orchestra." Mr. Eaton, who is currently working on an opera with Michael Fried '59 as librettist, has previously written a song cycle on John Donne's "Holy Sonnets," several solo sonatas, a set of piano variations and a string quartet.

Mr. McKinney, a resident of Princeton, is president of the University Orchestra. He has played trumpet in the Princeton Symphony Orchestra for four years and soloed with the University Orchestra in 1957 in Rissager's "Concertino for Trumpet and String Orchestra." At present he is studying piano and viola in addition to trumpet. He is also founder and director of the Princeton Community Band, a summer organization which has given 10 concerts in the last two years.

Mr. Sprung, who is studying composition with Roger Sessions and Milton Babbitt, has been principal French hornist with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra for the past two seasons. He attended Tanglewood in the Summer of 1956 as a conducting student and a member of the Berkshire Music Center Orchestra. Last Summer he directed the Music Land Chorus on the campus of Bard College.

RECITAL PLANNED

For Friday Evening. A recital by university pupils of Ann Luckey will be presented this Friday evening at 8:15 in Clo Hall Auditorium. The recital is sponsored by the Friends of Music in Princeton in conjunction with the annual Creative Arts Festival and is open to the public free of charge.

A feature of the recital will be the "Kyrie" and "Gloria" from the "Mass for Men's Voices and Fourteen Wind Instruments," written this year by Milton Gill, to Miss Luckey. Also included on the program will be songs by Purcell, Dowland, Handel, Bach, Mozart, Schubert, Wolf and Verdi. Miss Luckey, who has been associated with the Music Department of Princeton University for the last five years, is also head-of the Voice Department at Georgian Court College. She is also known in Princeton for the 11 recitals she gave here with John Kirkpatrick, teacher and pianist who is now chairman of the Department of Music at Cornell University.

SCHOOL CONCERT SET

In Lawrenceville. A joint concert by the Lawrenceville School Chapel Choir and the Miss Fine's School Glee Club will be given this Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the Lawrenceville School Chapel. Feature of the program will be the Esch Cantata No. 4. The Lawrenceville Choir will be directed by Theodore Keller, with Mrs. L. M. Gill directing the Miss Fine's School Glee Club. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

PIANO RECITAL SET

For This Sunday. A piano recital by the students of John Ellis will be held Sunday afternoon at 8:15 at his studio on Province Line Road.

This will be the first of four student recitals planned by Mr. Ellis. Students participating will be Jaye Brinster, Steven Fox, Howard Fraker, Martha Gottlieb, Mary Hohler, Denys Oberman and Christine Punnett.

Dr. Hick To Join Faculty. Dr. John H. Hick has been named to the Stuart Chair of Christian Philosophy at the Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Hick, presently a professor in the Sage School of Philosophy at Cornell, will teach several courses in Christianity and philosophy at the Seminary.

The newly-appointed member of the Seminary faculty was born in Scarborough, England, and was educated in Great Britain. He received his Ph.D. from Oxford in 1950 and studied theology and served as a minister before going to Cornell in 1956.

Report from THE MAYOR

Open House. Each Thursday in May the regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" session will be held at Borough Hall from 7 to 10 p.m. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal sessions.

Roads Scholars. Borough and Township officials have been spending a lot of time studying the road patterns in and around Princeton in preparation for this week's major meeting on that vital subject. Acceptance wire received from all the invited guests: the State highway department; the Counties of Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset; and the boroughs and townships that are Princeton's neighbors.

Planning Together. Interest is high in the possibility of pressing for the long-sought by-pass from heavily-traveled Route 206 to Route 1 and beyond. It is hoped that early agreement can be reached on a possible alignment so that acquisition of right of way might be accomplished. Certainly Princeton Borough sees the by-pass as one of the major projects for the future. It is hoped that through traffic that now winds through Borough streets.

The Loop. It is of note that neither the by-pass nor the proposed loop around Princeton will cross Borough territory, yet both are vital to our future. Princeton has become the hub of a vast road network and the focal point of an area of tremendous growth.

It just makes sense to sit down with our neighboring governing bodies to work out a mutually acceptable road plan for easing the traffic pressures. Without such planning and action, it is doubtful whether Nassau Street and certain other Borough arteries could hope to carry the vastly increased traffic volume.

A Great Privilege. The Mayor was privileged on Sunday to visit with the distinguished bellmaster from Mechlin, Belgium, Mr. Staf Nees. Those who heard his brilliant carillon concert now understand the high praise his student, Princeton's Professor Arthur Bischoff, always has for his great talent.

Professor and Mrs. Nees, beginning a strenuous tour of the United States and Canada with more than 40 scheduled concerts, seemed to enjoy Princeton. Those who had a chance to hear this great man hope that this will be the first of many visits.

Council's Homework. As Borough Council prepared for next week's public meeting, a number of much-discussed problems remained at the forefront of their attention: the need to decide on sites for the necessary housing units for families who may be displaced by urban renewal, the continued spade-work on off-street parking needs; the decision-making on recommendations of the Joint Borough-Township Advisory Committee on Recreation. These and many other serious questions must be weighed and answered in the days ahead.

BERKSHIRE FARM APPEAL

Starts This Week. A group of Princeton residents will launch this week the 20th annual appeal in this area on behalf of the Berkshire Farm for Boys, formerly the Berkshire Industrial Farm.

Mrs. Bevis Longstreth is chairman of the appeal in the Princeton area. Members of her committee are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Edman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Lindabury, Mr. and Mrs. David H. McAlpin, Mrs. Minot C. Morgan, William K. Prentice, Mrs. Fenn Stafford, Mrs. Norman E. Zooker, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wallace, Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Worden and Mrs. Wilbur H. York.

I'M HERE TO HELP: Mrs. Meritta Farrell, Certified Visiting Homemaker, offers a cup of coffee to Miss Annie Cummins, first Princeton resident to employ the services of a Homemaker. HOMEMAKERS ON CALL

Where Help Is Needed. Twelve Homemakers are now on call to help out in family emergencies. So far, 11 Princeton families have used the services of this new organization. The Princeton Community Homemaker Service was started on March 1.

The Princeton Kiwanis Club launched the Homemakers with a $1,500 contribution toward the first year's administration expense. Individual citizens have contributed $3,000 and the organization now needs $500 more to round out the first year's expenses. (Add you know how high a sailor can get when he's appliqued). His eyes are silver buttons. There's a six-inch compass rose at one shoulder. Its cardinal points marked with sequins.

With this ensemble you will definitely not wear a cashmere coat, but Bellows has them, anyway. These are real Chinese cashmere at $97, in black, lambo, a color called Bahama, which is really dark lambo, cherry red and navy blue. There's a belted wrap style that recalls Garbo and the thirties, a shawl collar style with gathered back, a clutch with soft revers.

One of the summer's prettiest sweaters is the white orlon cardigan with little olive green satin leaves sewed to its front. From there dangle little orange and gold satin berries.

And: Madras shirtwaists at $17.95 and $25, depending on the swing of the skirt. . . . cotton jacket dresses from New York, at $39.95. . . . a soft polished cotton shirt with shadowy green and white print. . . . cotton skirts, full or straight, for $5.95. . . . including one that has little woodpeckers on it, climbing up a vine. . . . woodpeckers on a vine?

Carved in Bali. Hand carvings from Bali are very finely done and detailed with great care because the Balinese have a deep reverence for nature and these carvings represent birds, fish and animals. You may see them at The Flower Basket, 136 Nassau.

Hand carved rosewood elephants have been worked so that the grain shows, conforming to the curves of the animal's body. An arrogant cock about a foot high has been done in a dark, highly polished wood. There are two smaller roosters just like him. Prices range down from $10.

You'll also find a pair of deer. If that's what they are to a Balinese. They certainly look like deer—and something that is related to a crane. We've never bird-watched in Bali.

In addition to these, there are little hand-carved boxes, some with gold inlay in the lid, others washed with a pale green dye that remains in the carved portions. A dish, round as a dish should be, has a flat head and a flat tail for a handle. A duck, maybe!

From India, the Flower Basket has carvings cut from the horn of water buffalo. Two angel fish have been carved from this heavy, translucent horn. They are mounted in rosewood boxes and they are particularly effective when they are viewed against the light. Two herons have also been carved from water buffalo horn.

RENAULT $1395

It's a fact that thousands of people every month are switching to a Renault. Like yourself they're people who are attracted by its compactness and graceful French styling . . . people who watch enviously as a Renault settles into the smallest parking space. But above all they're people delighted with a car that costs so little and gives such continuous economies (40 mpg. low oil bills). And in owning a Renault these people rediscovered the fun that driving can be.

You, too, can enjoy a Renault for as little as $36.29 a month, if you prefer. Test drive it . . . buy it. (Europe-bound? Ask your Renault Dealer about the savings on our Overseas Delivery and Return Plan.)

SPORTS In Princeton

GOLFERS' WEEKEND

Intercollegiate Here. The big show in college golf in this part of the country is set for the Springdale course this weekend. One hundred and twelve players, representing 16 colleges, will tour the 6,800 yard, par 72 layout, with the first foursome scheduled to tee off at 7 a.m.

Saturday will be devoted to medal play, with the top three scores credited to each college counting toward the team championship. Each entrant will play 36 holes.

The top 16 players will qualify for match play and the individual championship. The first round and the quarter-finals are set for Sunday, with the semi-finals and finals scheduled for Monday. All these matches will be 18 holes.

Golfers interested in the spectator side of the sport will find much to keep them interested. A number of the top collegians are quite likely to crack par, while the effectiveness of youth is also sure to produce some of the wilder and woollier shots during the three-day affair.

CREW RACE SCHEDULED

Among 150-lb. shells. In the only other athletic event scheduled for these parts, the 150-lb. crews of Harvard, Princeton and Yale will row Saturday on Lake Carnegie. The varsities will compete for the Goldswait Cup, rowing at 4:30, with the freshman and junior varsity races preceding the main event at 15-minute intervals.

Harvard is favored to win, with Princeton hoping to improve on its showing of last Saturday. The Tigers won the Wood-Hammond Cup when they finished far ahead of Pennsylvania, but Yale, rowing on an invitation basis and therefore ineligible for the trophy, led the Orange and Black across the line by a few feet.

Heavyweights at Derby. Princeton's heavyweight freshmen, Jayvee and varsity will row against Cornell and Yale on the Housatonic River, with the Carnegie Cup at stake, Yale, defending the trophy, is favored.

Princeton improved its showing in the first two races this season when it lost to Harvard at Cambridge last weekend, the Crimson being good enough to break the course record for a mile and three quarters on the Charles River. The Tigers were second, clocked at 8:33.8 compared to 8:45 for the victors. Harvard chopped four-fifths of a second off the course mark set seven years ago by Cornell.

The Tiger freshmen lost to the first time this season, Harvard's first-year boat leading them by a length at the finish. They have a good chance of defeating their Cornell and Yale counterparts this weekend.

Derby with Massachusetts Tech and Boston University also competed in the Compton Cup regatta. The Indians, moving slowly up the ladder in Eastern rowing circles, finished ahead of Princeton in the Jayvee race, but Harvard swept the river.

LACROSSE TEAM ROLLS

Over Penn and Harvard. One-sided triumphs in defense of its Ivy title were recorded last week by Ferris Thomsen's lacrosse team. The Tigers swamped Penn at Philadelphia last Wednesday, 10 to 1, and then trounced Harvard, 20 to 3, before a houseparty crowd on Saturday.

It has been 27 years since Penn last defeated Princeton in this sport, while Harvard has not turned the trick since 1925. Bob Milling scored four goals against Penn and Johnny Allen hit the nets four times against Harvard. In the latter contest, it was 11-0 at the half and 16-0 in the fourth period before the Crimson scored.

Princeton will be at New Haven this weekend, facing an Eli ten that should not cause too much trouble. If the Tigers follow with victories over Penn, Cornell and Cornell, they'll have their third straight Ivy title. Cornell figures to provide the stiffest opposition.

TRACK TEAM HOPEFUL

Of Upset over Cornell. Although Yale's extremely well-balanced track team defeated it, 96 to 44, Saturday, Princeton's track team figures to have close to an even chance of defeating Cornell this weekend at Ithaca. The Tigers are improving steadily and Cornell is not the power it has been earlier this decade.

Half a dozen records were broken Saturday in Palmer Stadium. Yale's mile relay team ran a crackling 3:17.4, setting both a meet and Stadium mark, while the Blue also bettered the Stadium mark in the mile and two-mile races. (4:35.2 and 9:26, respectively) became new marks, while Princeton's Dick Edmunds got his name in the books again with a 4:7.7 quarter.

Edmunds' time was three-tenths of a second better than the 4:10 run 19 years ago by Paul Douglas '41. The Tiger sprint star placed second in the 220, sharing Princeton scoring honors with Captain Ed Manning.

Manning won the javelin and was runner-up in the pole vault. Other Princeton victors were Stu White in the high jump and Dave Wagstaff in the broad jump. (For an estimate of the accomplishments of Princeton's unbeaten freshmen, who made Yale their fifth victim on Saturday, see "We Congratulate," page 25.)

BALL TEAM BLANKED

By Harvard, 5-0. Just as the baseball team was on the verge of making a run for the Eastern League title, its summer attack faded to virtually nothing and the result was a easily 5-0 defeat at the hands of Harvard. The result left the Tigers fourth in the team standings, confronted with the knowledge that they must win their remaining five games, to have a chance of a possible tie for the title.

Chances are small that anything less than 7-2 will be good enough for top honors. Chances of a playoff, if needed, are even less, since exams generally interfere with such plans.

The Tigers got just two hits off Ed Wadsworth, a righthander whom they helped out most of the afternoon by swinging at a number of poor pitches. Bill McMillan led off in the first with a solid double to right center, but none of the four hitters who followed could move him along.

Nile Ippolito walked in that frame and hit a one-out single in the second. No other Princetonians reached first as the Crimson wrapped up its second straight shutout at University Field. As he was on Saturday, Herm Belz was the victim of the 1-0 whitewashing in 1957.

BULLDOG BEATER: Herm Belz, who has never lost to Yale, will go after his fifth victory over the Blue at New Haven Saturday.

Herm pitched well enough to win most games, despite the fact that he was tagged for nine hits. The first Harvard run scored after a base was stolen with two out, whereas a cleanly-executed play on the steal would have retired the side.

The insurance run might also have been prevented, since first base was open and two were out when Harvard's Chet Bodritz lined a single to center to score George Harrington. Strategy might have dictated walking Bodritz, whose two-out triple drove Harrington across the first time. The batter who followed him in the Crimson order was freshly up from the jayvees.

The Tigers have three games in the next six days, two of them league affairs. They take on Rutgers, Yale and Columbia, in that order.

Rutgers, fielding one of the better teams in the east, will be on University Field Friday at 4. The Scarlet topped the Tigers 1-0 last month at New Brunswick, 5 to 3.

The Orange and Black goes to New Haven Saturday, with Herm Belz scheduled to see if he can continue his mastery over the Blue. Yale is currently last in the league and is fielding one of the poorer teams to represent the Elis in many a season.

Columbia will be here Wednesday at 4. The Lions won their first three in circuit competition to lead the race but a sharp form reversal has dropped them back below the 500 mark.

BRIGHTER DAYS AHEAD

For PHS Track Team. Princeton High School track coach Win Niles sees better sailing ahead for his charges "now that we are finished with the toughest meets of our season" against New Brunswick and Long Branch.

New Brunswick, picked by Niles as almost "definite" state champions this year, and a "strong" Long Branch team both opposed the Little Tigers, who have won one meet against Glenview. Coach Niles noted Princeton might easily defeat Highland Park on Wednesday. Highland Park, last year's state champions, "is not at all as good as last year," Niles reports.

Showing his optimism even more in reference to Hamilton High, which the Tigers face on Friday, May 15, the Princeton coach said he did not expect "much trouble that day."

"And we should take Trenton High, too," he observed emphatically. The PHS cindermen will meet Trenton on Friday, May 22, in the final dual meet of the season.

Singling out some of his men for honorable mention, Niles noted first Bill Jennings. The sprinter has won both the 100-yard and 220 yard runs in each of the Princeton encounters this season.

Bob Cooper received praise from Niles for his work in the quarter-mile, as did two sophomores, Lamont Fletcher and Jerry Cypress; for performances in the high and low hurdles.

In the field events, which he called "the backbone of our team," Niles also had special praise for Ridge Applegate in the weights. Applegate throws the javelin, shot-put and discus. Howard Gould, discus, and Dan Kulliey, shot-put, have also been valuable.

BILL WHITTON
Assistant Track Coach

Properly enough, freshman athletic teams at Princeton attract little attention, either on the sports pages or from sports-minded residents of this community. Not only would headlines tend to over-emphasize but success can also be misleading in any attempt to translate first-year ability into a bright promise for upcoming varsity teams.

Proper emphasis should be given, however, to the distinctly unusual achievement of the freshman track team in defeating its Harvard and Yale counterparts on successive Saturdays. While meets between Harvard and Princeton first-year teams were only resumed two seasons ago after a lapse of many years, there is reason to believe that very few "doubles" of this nature would have been scored by Orange and Black entries had they been offered the opportunity. It is an achievement of considerable proportions since Yale and Harvard varsities normally dominate the Heptagonal League and the Elis occasionally are a major threat in ICA-A competition.

One of the primary reasons for Princeton's success in the past fortnight is the balance and depth the Class of 1962 has produced in the field events. These are coached at both the varsity and freshman level by Bill Whitton, a real specialist in both this sport and in football who has been on the Princeton scene since his arrival from similar duties at Lehigh four years ago.

Clear indication of the strength the young Princetonians show in the field was unfolded in Palmer Stadium Saturday as they swept to a convincing 77-63 triumph over Yale. In the seven events, they captured four first places, all seven seconds and four thirds. In winning 45 out of 63 possible points, they swept the high jump and finished one-two in the hammer, javelin and shotput.

Although a number of Whitton's proteges show marked ability, one of them has already hit the record books. With a resounding smuck, eighteen-year old Ed Thurber, a resident of nearby Lawrenceville, threw the javelin 215 feet last month, breaking both the University and Palmer Stadium records. The latter was set by a candidate for the U.S. Olympic team while taking part in a Princeton invitation meet 23 years ago.

A native of Scotland who served in the U.S. Army during World War II and graduated in 1947 from St. Lawrence University, Whitton contributes a keenly analytical mind to every sphere of his Princeton athletic assignments. His scouting reports on Tiger football opponents are second only to actual films of the game in clarity, and the thorough job he did in evaluating Yale's strength and weaknesses last fall was credited with playing a major share in Princeton's 50-to-14 shelling of the Blue.

Over a period of a quarter-century or more, Princeton track teams have almost traditionally been weak in field events. As the sport begins a welcome renaissance here, Bill Whitton will be working tirelessly to achieve a form reversal in this respect and help bring the Tigers back on a par with their traditional rivals.

"It's hard to tell exactly what's what this early in the season," remarked Zoli. "Look where the Yankees are now. After five games, it's not fair to even single out the best hitters."

The Princeton coach has settled on one thing, however, and that is pitcher Jack Lackey. The junior right-hander has started all five games for the Little Tigers this season winning three against one loss.

In Lackey's most recent performance, he threw a four-hit shutout at Trenton Catholic and won his own game with a triple. Only one runner got beyond second base and he was cut down when the Little Tiger southpaw started a bases-loaded double play at the plate.

Bruce Sandvik opened the home half of the sixth by reaching second on an error and a sacrifice. Lackey promptly blasted the ball over the centerfielder's head for a triple, scoring a moment later on a neat squeeze bunt by Arnie Skarr. The pitcher's big blow was the only ball PHIS hit out of the infield, but it was all that was necessary.

Lackey's regular battery mate is Ed King. Dick Olsen, first base, Boyd Bergen, second, Jack Hawkins, third and pitcher, and Bruce Sandvik, shortstop, complete the starting infield. In the outfield, Archie-Freeman starts in left, Rick Hurford in right, and Arnold Skarr patrols center field. Princeton will meet similar clinics for the Armed Forces in various European bases. All baseball fans, whether umpires, managers, players or spectators, are invited to attend and to ask questions on rules and procedure.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO BREAK GROUND

For New Trinity Church, A ground-breaking ceremony for the new All Saints' Chapel of Trinity Episcopal Church will be held this Sunday at 4 p.m. at the chapel site on Van Dyke Road, off Snowden Lane. In case of rain, the service will be postponed to next Sunday, May 17, at the same time. Construction of the new chapel is scheduled to begin immediately after the ground-breaking.

Rev. Dr. John Vernon Butler, rector of Trinity Church, will officiate at the ceremony and will remove the first shovelful of earth. The service will open with a procession of the ministers and people, singing the Hallelujah Chorus, with a third cord encircling the area as it is blessed.

The tract of land on which the new chapel is to be built, which comprises 73 acres, was donated to Trinity by Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne, Jr. Funds for construction were raised in a campaign begun last April. The total was $351,475, but enthusiastic response from parishioners resulted in pledges totaling more than $400,000.

Designed to relieve overcrowded conditions at Trinity, the new chapel will seat approximately 100 persons and will provide for 510 children in two Church School sessions. Future plans call for the addition of a parish house, a cemetery, parking areas, playing fields and recreation areas.

P.C.D. NINE BUSY. In the Games in 1953, The Princeton Country Day School baseball team will face three opponents in the next four days as it ends the interscholastic portion of its 1953 schedule. Poddie School's juniors will come to the Broadwood diamond Friday at 3:30.

Sunday will find the Blues and White at Marquand Park for a contest against Witherspoon that was rained out last month. P.C.D. won the first game between the two teams, 3-2. A second contest against Lawrence Junior High is set for Tuesday.

A pair of games during the past week with Valley Road brought nothing better than a tie and a defeat. Friday saw the teams finish in a 4-4 deadlock on the P.C.D. field.

Country Day opened Tuesday's contest with a five-run first. Singles by Steve Cook and Charlie Stangley and a double by Dave Davis were the principal factors in the big inning.

After Country Day increased its margin to 6-0, the home team rallied for three runs and then won with a five-run outburst in the last round to make it an 8-6 final. Garry Biallet's two-out single produced the winning markers.

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods. Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk

From the center of Princeton go east on Nassau St. for 1 mile, turn left on Snowden Lane to Franklin Ave, left 1 block and right on Grover Ave. to 136 Randall Rd. and Display Home.
